

Central Intelligence Agency
Office of the Deputy Director for Intelligence

8 January 1986

NOTE TO: W. Glenn Campbell
President's Foreign Intelligence
Advisory Board

As I mentioned to you this morning, I would very much appreciate your reading my draft speech on CIA-academic relations, which I will deliver at Harvard next month. Any comments or suggestions you have will be welcome. (At this point I would appreciate your not sharing it with anyone else.)

Many thanks.

Robert M. Gates
Deputy Director for Intelligence

Central Intelligence Agency
Office of the Deputy Director for Intelligence

8 January 1986

NOTE TO: Ambassador Anne Armstrong
Chairman, President's Foreign Intelligence
Advisory Board

I have accepted an invitation to give a public speech at Harvard early next month on CIA and the academic community. There is apparently, once again, growing hostility toward dealings with us, even in the research and analysis area. Bill and I thought it would be useful to take advantage of this opportunity to put on the record why such cooperation is important to the nation.

I would very much appreciate your reading the attached draft of the speech and any comments or suggestions you may have on how to improve it. It is an important opportunity and I obviously want to make the strongest possible case. On such a charged issue, I would greatly value both your insights relating overall to intelligence and your political judgment. I give the speech on February 13th.

Many thanks.

Robert M. Gates
Deputy Director for Intelligence